CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Objections to the conviction of thirty of the thirty-three "dynamite plotters" at Indianapolis last December were laid before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today in an appeal of five men to have the verdict set aside.

On behalf of Frank M. Ryan, president of the Ironworkers' Union; Olaf A. Twitmore, and the other labor-union officials, adjudged guilty of conspiracy in the McNamara dynamite plot on passenger trains, their chief counsel, argued before the court against conviction, but refused to recognize the union.

"That even if the defendants had been guilty of illegally transporting dynamite and nitroglycerin on passenger trains in violation of Federal law, and even if they had blown up the work of contractors who refused to join the union, the statute of limitation had run against the offenses before the men were tried."

"That the Federal Court at Indianapolis committed an error in allowing Olaf A. Twitmore and Edward Clark, confessed dynamite makers, to testify against the other men, because Clark and McNamara were co-defendants, and their testimony was incompetent."

"That the destruction of non-union work was an offense against the State and not against the Federal government."

"That the law prohibiting transportation of explosives on passenger trains was a precaution for the safety of passengers and was directed against the railroads."

"That the men were convicted both of conspiracy and of direct violation of the same evidence, and therefore were punished more than once for the same offense."

"It was as invalid to punish these men twice or three as it would be to try them more than once on the same charge," said Mr. Ryan.

"Further, it is inconceivable that men residing in Boston, San Francisco, New Orleans, Duluth, Philadelphia, and other places equally scattered could have gotten together to direct the McNamara dynamite plot, and the McNamara. Most of them never heard of McNamara. The law specifically designated passenger trains. What would be the purpose of these men in conspiring to carry explosives particularly on passenger trains? There could be no answer."

WASHINGTON, MODEL CITY.

Plans to Beautify the National Capital Formulated.

A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Plans for making the national capital a model municipality after which all the cities of the country may pattern, were outlined at a conference here today between Henry Brown, head of the Bureau of Municipal Research of New York, and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia. Brown and John Purroy Mitchell, fusion candidate for Mayor of New York, formulated the proposed form of government for the capital, and presented it to President Wilson last spring. Today's conference was held at the suggestion of the President, to whom the Commissioners will submit their views after making a careful study of the subject.

union work or actually aiding John J. and James B. McNamara in explosions on the Pacific Coast. The other prison terms, most of which have been suspended pending the appeal, vary from four years to one year and one day.

THREE DAYS OF THE PRESENT COURT are to be devoted to the hearings of the appeals and the government's opposition. It is likely that when the argument is concluded Judge Koblenz, Baker and Seaman will take the petition under advisement and render their decision at some later date. It is understood that should the present appeal be adverse to the convicted men it will be carried to the United States Supreme Court.

Among those who are not appealing is Herbert H. Hokin, now serving a six-year term at Leavenworth. He was called the "Iago" of the conspiracy. It was charged that he not only carried the dynamite and nitroglycerin in a suit case, but that he gave information to detectives while in the confidence of his co-conspirators.

Inherits Pasadena Mansion.

Mrs. Lilly Busch,

Widow of the late St. Louis millionaire, who is made one of the three trustees of the vast estate, which is estimated at $50,000,000.

Request.

BULK OF BUSCH MILLIONS
LEFT IN TRUST FOR HEIRS.

Widow of the Late St. Louis Magnate Receives One-eighth of His Vast Fortune, as Well as the Magnificent Home at Pasadena, and With August A. Busch and Charles Nagel Will Be Trustee of Estate.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29.—The will of Adolphus Busch, died here late this afternoon, makes charitable bequests aggregating $170,000 to a number of St. Louis institutions, and places the bulk of the estate in trust, names for each of the daughters, Mrs. Lilly Busch, Charles Nagel and August A. Busch, trustees.

In addition to the charitable bequests set forth in the will, Mrs. Busch left a private memorandum requesting members of her family to make certain other donations, most of which are private in their nature. The attorney, however, made public the names of eight St. Louis institutions which are to receive, under this memorandum, a total of $40,000, making the total bequests for charitable purposes, $210,000.

THE TRUST. The trust created by the will is to be disposed of as follows: One-eighth to the widow, Mrs. Lilly Busch.

One-eighth to August A. Busch, the son and for several years active head of the Busch interests.

One-eighth to be retained by the trustees, Mrs. Lilly Busch, Charles Nagel and August A. Busch, to be used for the benefit of the estate.

The executors of the estate—Mrs. Lilly Busch, Edward A. Faust and Charles Nagel—are authorized to make such donations from the estate to persons or causes as they may deem a direct or incidental benefit to the estate. The trustees are given similar power.

EXPLAINS ADVANCES. In one section of the will Mr. Busch referred to the advances of money he had made to his children or for their account.

"It has been my desire to treat them with equality," reads the will, "and solely that any inequalities that may now exist or may hereafter arise through the fact that advances were made to one or more of my children, I hereby declare that I have charged upon my private books such amounts as in my judgment should have been made during my life time."

The Busch homes in Pasadena, Cal., and Cooperstown, N. Y., are among the most costly residences in the United States. They are bequeathed to the widow. She also receives the mansion in St. Louis. Alvin C. Busch, who received $10,000, was Mr. Busch's stenographer, and Mrs. Schumann, the companion of Mrs. Adolphus Busch, received a like amount.

as ways to influence Huerta to retire.

That some comprehensive plan for dealing with the situation is expected by Europe, was apparent today when the character of the representations made by the diplomats at Mexico City to their home governments became known. Although no collective opinion was reached at the recent conference of diplomats at the Mexican capital, many of them, it was learned today, criticized the American policy severely for not taking such steps as to have been among those who roundly criticized the American policy, while the Spanish Minister is declared to have made caustic reference to the invasion of the rights of Spanish nationals while the United States maintained acquiescent attitude.

Dosen Cannon Said to Have Been Turned Over to Carrancistas as Result of Revolt in the Banks of the Federal—Another Attack Hourly Expected.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HIDALGO (Mex.) Oct. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Another battle at Monterrey is expected. The Constitutionalist leaders include Francisco Villa, with 4000 men brought from the north; Gen. Jesus Carranza, a brother of the first chief of the rebels, with 3000 troops from Coahuila; Gen. Pablo Gonzales, with 2500 veterans from the district around Monclova, and Col. Murguia with 1000 men.

According to reports at the Constitutionalist headquarters, a dozen cannons were turned over to the Carrancistas as the result of a revolt in the ranks of the Federalists. In explanation it is asserted that the Federal army formerly allied with the movement in favor of Gen. Felix Diaz, played into the hands of Jesus Carranza.

Twenty American families interested in saloons and restaurants near the depot fell into the hands of the rebels and were made prisoners

APPROVES LIST FOR CALIFORNIA.
New Postmasters to Be Named in Few Days.

Cause Warm Debate.

APPROVES LIST FOR CALIFORNIA.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The Postmaster-General approved a list of a dozen postmasters for California and they were sent to President for his consideration. Most of these new postmasters will, it is understood, be in Los Angeles county. They will be the ones approved by the committee of the county in which their offices are located, and they have been referred by the referees for Congress—Baker and Church, Congressmen from the city.
Caminetti made his first call on the Postmaster-General in many days a few days ago, but at that time he did not give consideration to the matter of the various candidates for the postmaster's office. He has, however, at the urgent request of the Postmaster-General, called again this morning. Then, it is understood, gave approval to the eleven or twelve names that are to be submitted to President. The two Democratic members now in the city were sent for and they expressed their satisfaction with the selection. The Postmaster-General explained he had been making such haste in appointing as was possible, and that he had appointed on average about forty-five postmasters a day since he assumed office. He said that there were only two offices in the list of Presidential offices in the entire country, and that he was in California. He said that he was not going to appoint any more in California, but that he was going to appoint in other parts of the country. POWER OF STATE.
A States' rights discussion relating to the powers of the States to regulate railroad rates was held today in the Senate. Senator L. B. Flinn of Kentucky, reading a paper on "Should Congress Regulate the Power of the States to Regulate Rates?" and opposed extensions of power, after a long discussion, the Senate adjourned. The resolution was about to be passed when Senator John H. Chamberlain of California, who is in charge of the bill, moved to amend it. He proposed to delete the words "the power of the States to regulate rates" and insert "the power of the States to regulate the rates of the railroads." The amendment was adopted by a vote of 19 to 17. The Senate then adjourned.

Educators Declare Fads in Education System Waste Two Years of Life.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) A group of educators, including Dr. J. H. Kilpatrick, of the University of Chicago, and Dr. J. H. Kilpatrick, of the University of Chicago, declared today that the fads in education waste two years of a child's life. They said that the fads in education are the result of a lack of understanding of the child's mind. They said that the fads in education are the result of a lack of understanding of the child's mind. SEEKS STOLEN LETTERS.
San Francisco District Attorney Declares He Was Hobbed of Correspondence with Mrs. Slingsby.
[By A. P. Day Wire to the Times.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—The publication today of letters which Dist. Atty. Fickert had written early this year to Mrs. Dorothy Cutler Morgan Slingsby caused him to declare burglary had been committed in his office, and that the person in whose possession the letters are now, was harboring stolen property.
In one of these letters the District Attorney wrote:
"My sympathies are with you and the child."
Mrs. Slingsby's attorneys he wrote: "The only serious evidence against her contention is the advertisement which appeared in one of the papers here."
The advertisement in question was for a new-born male infant, and Mrs. Slingsby's relatives by marriage seek to prove that the child she and her husband acknowledge as their son, heir to an English estate worth $1,000,000, is a changeling, found in answer to the advertisement. At the next session of the grand jury Fickert says he will ask the jurors to inquire into how his letters passed from his possession.
Dist. Atty. Fickert sent Oliver Dible, counsel for Lieut. and Mrs. Slingsby, to the office of George Knight, representing the Slingsbys, to demand the letters, or if he refused to surrender them, to show why a warrant for his arrest should not be issued. Knight gave Dible his word of honor that he had no stolen property in his possession, and explained that he had copies of the letters from the English lawyers representing Lieut. and Mrs. Slingsby in London, it being a custom among British barristers to exchange documents bearing on the case, he said.
Not quite sure of what British practice is, Dible called to London to find out, and action was dropped until a reply should have been received.

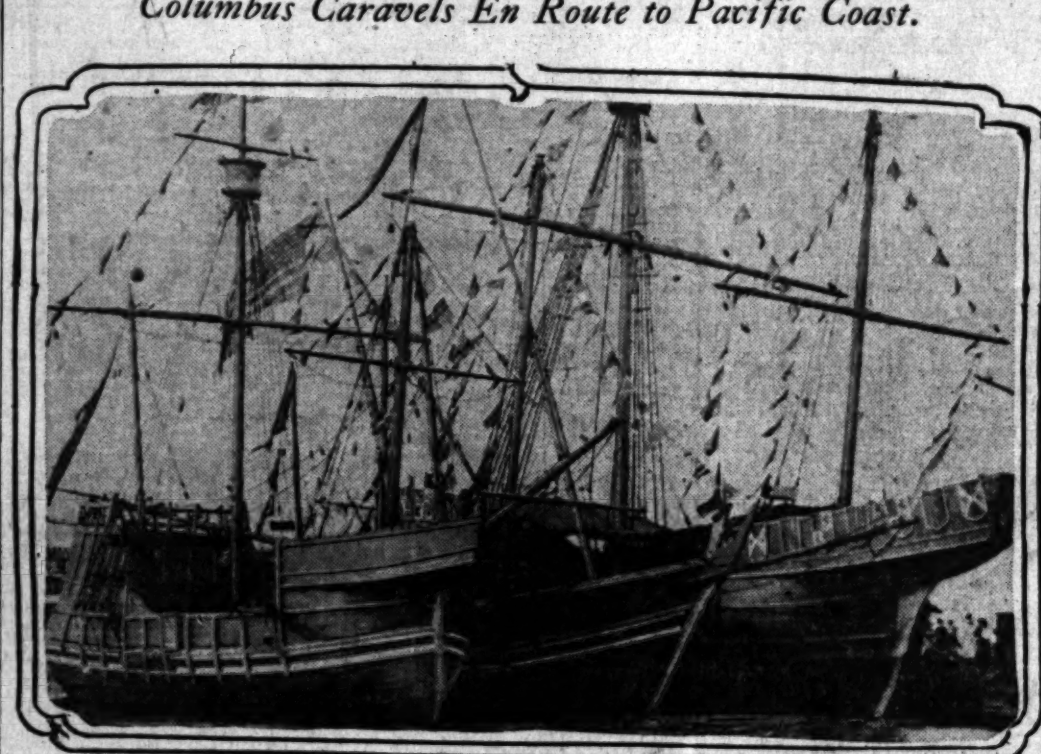

FINDS WIFE MURDERED.
Italian Workman Returning Home at Mountain View Discovers Body Shot Through the Head.
[By A. P. Day Wire to the Times.]
SAN JOSE, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Josephine Banacudano, the 19-year-old wife of G. Banacudano, an Italian resident of Mountain View, was found dead in her home this evening, shot through the head. The door was locked and her husband discovered the tragedy on his return from work this evening.
It is thought to be a case of murder and the officers are now looking for a mysterious Italian who was seen in the town today. Jealousy is the supposed cause. The couple had been married about a year.

Four I.W.W. Prisoners at Stockton Chose Long Jail Sentence Instead of Forfeiting Pledging.
[By A. P. Day Wire to the Times.]
STOCKTON (Cal.) Oct. 29.—Four members of the Industrial Workers of the World have been in the local jail three days but refuse to eat. Today County Physician H. C. Petersen said he would force them to eat and would tuberculate their throats and force milk down them. Hearing what the official had to say, one of the I.W.W. followers said that they would not take the milk and no official could force them to.
The four then asked that they be taken into court, which request was granted. The men pleaded guilty and sentences of 100 days in jail were withheld, providing they kept within the law.

READY FOR THE FRY.
Two Widows Begin Legal Fight at San Francisco Today for Crittenden Robinson Estate.
[By A. P. Day Wire to the Times.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Two women, each claiming to be the lawful widow of Crittenden Robinson, Californian and Parisian, and for years before his death in San Francisco last year, champion wing shot of the world, will begin a legal battle here tomorrow for the $75,000 estate he left.
Mrs. Fannie M. Robinson, his first wife, is suing to have set aside a divorce granted Robinson in Portland, Or., in 1893, claiming that Robinson was a resident of San Francisco, and not of Oregon at the time of the divorce. The other woman is Mrs. Minnie H. Harlan Robinson, married to Robinson in 1898, a native San Franciscan also. She is contesting the first Mrs. Robinson's claim, which would make her no wife and eliminate her from participation in the estate.
Mrs. Robinson No. 1 also has a claim against the estate for alleged back alimony in the sum of $17,000. She says Robinson never paid her any of the $50 a month separate maintenance he was ordered to pay in 1886. She was granted Robinson in Portland, Or., in 1893, claiming that Robinson was a resident of San Francisco, and not of Oregon at the time of the divorce. The other woman is Mrs. Minnie H. Harlan Robinson, married to Robinson in 1898, a native San Franciscan also. She is contesting the first Mrs. Robinson's claim, which would make her no wife and eliminate her from participation in the estate.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Funeral services for Charles G. Gates will be held here next Sunday afternoon. The special train bearing Gates' body is expected Friday. Gates will be buried beside his father, in Woodlawn Cemetery.

HOLDING COMPANY FAILS.
Seattle Concern Which Controls Several Office and Commercial Buildings Will Wind Up.
[By A. P. Day Wire to the Times.]
SEATTLE, Oct. 29.—The Trustee Company of Seattle, a holding company for several large office and commercial buildings, including the Central building and the Railway Exchange building, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Federal court yesterday. The liabilities are $224,000 and the assets $247,000. Nearly all the liabilities are secured. The company was the pioneer in the plan of selling units in its buildings, dividing each structure into so many units and selling to investors, promising liberal dividends on their units. Until within the last three years the dividends were paid. The buildings are all in the old downtown districts where land values have not advanced. In a note appended to the petition, President W. D. Wood and Secretary A. T. Wright state that the management, collection and distribution of rents of the various Trustee Company properties, each of which, they say is a separate trust, has been placed in the hands of the Business Properties Securities Company, so that the only business remaining for the Trustee Company of Seattle is the winding up of its affairs.

CARAVELS ON THEIR WAY TO THE PANAMA CANAL.

LEVELAND (O.) Oct. 29.—The three Columbus caravels, the Pinta, Nina and Santa Maria, which came to Cleveland on their way from Chicago to the Panama Exposition at San Francisco, left here today for Erie, Pa. For a time it was reported that the trip would be abandoned. The ships made their first public appearance at Huelva, Spain, during the Columbus festival held there from October 10 to October 14, 1892, and went down the bay to meet the Queen of Spain as she approached the city from Cadiz aboard the royal yacht. They were the most interesting features of the celebration.
On February 15, 1892, the little fleet cleared from Cadiz for America. Commanders and crews had a safe but not very comfortable voyage and the caravels arrived about the middle of March at Havana, Cuba, where the two smaller boats were turned over to the Spanish authorities and manned and used by them in the naval reviews at Norfolk and New York, flying the flag of Castile and Leon, under which Columbus sailed.
The Santa Maria was built at the request of the Spanish government, and the Nina and Pinta at the expense of the United States, an appropriation having been secured for the purpose by the late William E. Curtis, newspaper writer, who suggested the reproduction of the entire discovery fleet, and was given general direction of the enterprise.
[Special Correspondence of the Times.]
SANDUSKY (O.) Oct. 24.—We plan to be at the entrance to the Panama Canal when the official opening takes place," said Commander Stephenson of the Columbus caravels just before the fleet left Sandusky on what proved to be the last stretch of the Chicago-to-San Francisco cruise. The commander expressed the hope that his ships might be the first to pass through the canal officially.
The three caravels, Pinta, Nina and Santa Maria, were reproduced in the navy yards of Cadiz and Barcelona, Spain, from plans prepared by a special commission of naval architects and archaeologists, appointed by the Spanish government. This commission spent six months to research before reporting.
The Santa Maria was built at the request of the Spanish government, and the Nina and Pinta at the expense of the United States, an appropriation having been secured for the purpose by the late William E. Curtis, newspaper writer, who suggested the reproduction of the entire discovery fleet, and was given general direction of the enterprise.

Absentees Delay Final Action on Details of Measure.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The currency bill passed over for later action in the Senate committee. The measure was passed over for later action in the Senate committee. The measure was passed over for later action in the Senate committee.

The complexity of the proposed Federal Reserve Board was also a factor in the delay. The committee found itself evenly divided on the central bank plan and proceeded to work out a regional system.

Senator Hollis and Weeks were not present, but were considered as present in the questions in dispute. An agreement was made that the committee would not take advantage of absent members to vote on important amendments.

OCTOBER 30, 1918.—[PART LT]

This image shows a vertical strip of a document page. On the left, there is a narrow column of text, which appears to be a list or index of items. The text is small and difficult to read, but it seems to be organized in a structured manner. On the right side of the strip, there is a large, dark, irregular shape that resembles a shadow or a large, dark object. The overall appearance is that of a scan of a physical document, with some noise and artifacts visible.

Rich Portuguese Fisherman Named in Slaying of Waiter's Fascinating Wife—Jealousy Ends Lurid Love of Iron-Fisted Taskmaster for Artist's Model. Missing Man Believed to Have Fled to Mexico.

Manuel Francis Cabral

Harriet Vorndam knew that such passion as Cabral had would have escape in some crisis. She feared it would be terrifying. She had aroused such a terrific tempest of love and desire in the powerful fisherman that she lost all her old assurance, all its dependence.

Recognizing that a car shortage this, the time of heavy crop movements, would be a national calamity, the Interstate Commerce Commission has sent notices to railroad men and big shippers here, informing them that any efforts to expedite the loading or unloading of cars will be appreciated.

arrangement of the exhibit has been made. However, it will be insisted upon that Los Angeles is given space near the center of the building and not under galleries. All of the counties of Southern California will make one exhibit, which will be marked by placards showing by what county the products were furnished.

RECOVERING.
 Love is one of the few diseases to be treated by another sickness. The world is not new any more, yet it has never discovered any cure for one love affair except a new one. Every man is not light enough to forget one woman by taking another, but it is his one chance.

THE RIGHT PLACE.
 Los Angeles is the city ideal for the flower show of 1915. If the people of all the world do not get value received at San Francisco for their double eagles we can guarantee them satisfaction in the south for 50 cents. Our city will offer them a spread of beauty that will haunt the vision through many years.

FOR THE FEW.
 Mary Garden urges classy women to carry walking sticks. Mary may get by with the cane act, as she could with almost anything else, but give most women a stick and they would fall down over it. The affection suggests the tallies and other stridencies which men do not like in women.

IT CAN'T BE DONE.
 It is rather a sad joke that the Democrats are called on to face a serious phase of the negro question. They have always been so perfectly sure that this unhappy problem was exclusively of Republican making and an entirely Republican affair. No administration that is American can side-step any American issue.

WORTH WHILE.
 An architect who died in Los Angeles a day or two ago gave his life's full endeavor to the making of better schoolhouses for children. Not less than fifty handsome educational institutions stand as monuments to his memory, and in every one sunlight, air and beauty are emphasized. A man who does a work of this sort has not lived in vain.

OPPORTUNE.
 It is reported that the lemon crop in Sicily is exceedingly short this year on account of the severe drought. Then the big company which is putting in a million-dollar plant at Vernon to make lemon oil and by-products will find an auspicious market for its first year of business. This company has a plant in Sicily and another in Spain. It must have a great old weather prophet to give it a hunch of that sort months in advance.

THE ARGENTINE BEEF TRUST.

The new tariff, it seems, will not, by admitting beef free of duty, break up the Chicago beef trust. It will simply compel it to transfer its field of operations to Buenos Ayres. Mr. J. Ogden Armour, who has just returned from Argentina, reports that he has contracted with the Lamport & Holt steamship line to bring to New York 4000 cubic tons of refrigerated beef. When remonstrated with by government officials in New York he blandly remarked, "Well, what is the United States going to do about it?"

THE TRIFLE NOT THE CHIEF.

The East-Siders in New York have a faculty for getting at the core of a situation and illuminating it with a terse sentence. In the Presidential election their banners bore the inscription, "The Tiger, Not the Elephant or the Moose." Now 50,000 of them are out for Sulzer and against Murphy with the slogan, "The Trifle, Not the Chief." That is not complimentary to Sulzer, but it will help him to win a seat in the Assembly.

Once upon a time in California, after the State Democratic nominating convention had adjourned, it was discovered that one of its nominees had been indicted for horse stealing in Michigan and had escaped conviction by a technicality.

The State Central Committee was hurriedly called together and discussed the advisability of taking the accused man off the ticket. "Keep him on, keep him on," said a wise old member from Hangtown, "three-quarters of his constituents have taken horses."

He was not removed and, although he was not elected, he led the ticket.

L'ESSE MAJESTE.

American actors can thank their lucky stars that they live in a plebeian country. The greatest actor in Germany has just been ordered to withdraw from a certain stage performance because he cut his mustache on the bias and looked altogether too much like the German Emperor. We have seen performers in Los Angeles who had a general family resemblance to William J. Bryan, but then they were not great actors. We have seen a piano player in a 5-cent show whose features distinctly resembled those of our worthy President. But no order of state has been issued commanding him peremptorily to remove his nose-glances.

Thank heaven, in a republic we are at least free from the bugbear of lese majeste! A man may drink grape juice in California without calling down official thunder from Washington. He may leave his job during business hours to go on the lecture platform and no excitement will be caused in the office of the Secretary of State. But he will probably lose his job. That is the only case of lese majeste recognized in California, not attending properly to business. Even this doesn't matter in Washington.

USANCES OF THE INCOME TAX.

Had it been the purpose of those who created the income tax, which goes into effect November 1, to weave a mesh of nullances about the financial affairs of this nation, needlessly hampering all persons earning or spending money, we would be forced to acknowledge that our legislators had gained their purpose.

Everybody has been pressed into the revenue service of the government; there is no compensation for the work and plenty of penalties for not doing it. All who pay the interest on mortgages, whether quarterly, semi-annually or annually, must deduct 1 per cent. from the amount due and pay the same to the government. It makes no difference whether the amount due is $1 or $10,000—the income tax must be deducted at the same time the payments are made.

Without any regard for the justice or injustice of such a measure, consider the annoyance that is arbitrarily placed on all persons paying mortgages interest! They must make two payments instead of one and are shouldered with the responsibility of seeing that the person who is getting the interest and is benefited by it is deprived of the income tax. The reasonable plan would have been to make the person receiving the interest liable for the income tax on the same.

Another annoyance that will harass every person earning more than $3000 or $4000 (the latter being the amount of exemption allowed to married persons) is the question whether or not he or she is liable to taxation. Certain expenses are allowed by the government as deductions from the net income. The individuals are the judge of whether their incomes are taxable, but if they err in judgment they are subject to a heavy penalty. It seems strange to talk of a "net income"—as the law does—when expenses for living, for improvements and for building are not allowed as deductions.

The bonded corporations of the United States, representing an investment of billions in bonds, will have to pay both the interest and the income tax on the bonds by reason of the fact that they have never kept track of the persons into whose hands the negotiable bonds and coupons therefrom have passed. If it were known who owned the bonds, then the owners would have to pay the income tax on that interest themselves—no matter how large or small the interest happened to be.

Such a situation imposes more than a nuisance on the corporations—it becomes an absolute hardship. In fact, it is a punishment in the form of a fine, and they are to be punished by an ex post facto law—a thing that is expressly not allowed by our Constitution. The corporations have no means of escape, and a group of the leading financiers have announced that they would pay both the interest and the income tax on that interest.

Another insufferable nuisance is that requiring all employers to keep track of the employees' earnings and deduct the income tax therefrom if the earnings amount to more than $3000 or $4000 for married persons. If the employees wish to escape taxation by reason of allowable expenses they must submit an itemized statement to their employers or to the collector of revenue for the district. A tremendous amount of clerical work is imposed on the employers and no compensation granted in return for the additional expense and work—in fact, there are stringent penalties if they fail to do as demanded by the government.

Thus it is seen with what a thorn hedge of nuisances the "wise men" of our nation have circumscribed the finances of the country in a desperate effort to make sure that no pennies slip through the fingers of the revenue collectors.

EXPERT ADVICE.

Suppose a master plumber suggested a plan for providing a house with a good workable system of pipes, hydrants and connections; and suppose the owner of the house rejected this plan simply on the grounds that it was recommended by a master plumber; and that being recommended by an expert, it was naturally a fell design in the interests of the plumbing trade and not therefore a good workable system. Should we consider that that householder was exhibiting common horse sense?

Yet this is exactly the attitude assumed by President Wilson toward Frank A. Vanderlip's suggestion for improving the banking business of the nation.

Or, suppose an architect submitted a ground plan for a large hotel, he having spent many years in the study of this subject; and supposing the hotel manager turned down the plans without examining them carefully, simply because the architect was an expert on the subject and so of course did not have the interest of his employers at heart. Should we consider that the manager was acting courteously toward the architect?

Yet this is the treatment meted out to Banker Vanderlip by President Wilson. Or, again: Suppose in the recent Episcopal convention the biggest bishop present frowned on a motion made by an active rector for bringing the church into closer communion with the mass of the people because, since it proceeded from a working clergyman, it must be designed against the dignity of the bishops. Should we consider that the big bishop deserved the support of the rector's parishioners? Why, then, support President Wilson in rejecting the plan of a working banker?

Let us assume that a certain man seemed to be ailing and the family doctor was all at sea about his condition and was going to experiment to find out what was the matter; and some learned specialist who had diagnosed hundreds of similar cases was willing to assist the puzzled practitioner in his efforts to arrive at the cause of the supposed malady; and the man who was guessing refused to listen to the man who knew because he was afraid he knew too much. Don't you see some parallel between this case and that of Doctor Wilson and Special Vanderlip?

The President stated publicly that he could not endorse Mr. Vanderlip's plan because it came from a banker, and a banker must necessarily be working in favor of Wall street. Could prejudice go further? The Democratic idea seems to be to turn down expert advice simply because it is expert advice.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Since the adoption of the State Constitution in 1879 it has been necessary to revise, patch and amend the laws so as to meet the problems brought about by the rapid growth and economic development of the State since that time, until the belief that a new Constitution should be written for California was crystallized into the act of the last Legislature, which requires that at the general election in November, 1914, the citizens shall determine whether or not a constitutional convention shall be called to rewrite the Constitution.

Those who undertake to change the Constitution of a State lay a course between Scylla and Charybdis. They are beset by difficulties on all sides; only by exercising the most painstaking care can they circumvent the evils from which they flee without becoming entangled with other and more harmful evils and confronted with a thousand mischievous fads.

The subject of whether the constitutional convention should be called deserves the serious attention of every citizen. It is a vital matter. The present Constitution is unsatisfactory by reason of countless amendments; it is a labyrinth in which the most judicial are oftentimes at a loss to find their way. However, it is a Constitution. To rewrite it will be a Herculean labor, and unless the task is cared for by the most competent men in the State, the new Constitution will be scarcely more than an experiment.

When a Constitution is being altered, and especially rewritten, a host of "special interests," by every effort and insidious art, attempt to get into it something that will be beneficial to them. Every class and every radical will be active.

It is far too early to know what arguments will be brought out favoring and opposing the proposition, but it is by no means too early for the people of California to begin taking an active interest in the matter.

ENEMIES OF AMERICAN SHIPPING.

Whatever may be the merits of the questions involved, some of our friends in foreign countries are showing extraordinary acerbity of temper regarding various matters brought forward in the United States.

Particularly is this true regarding any proposition in the interest of American shipping. The provision for favoring American vessels passing through the American Panama Canal especially evoked British wrath. Then came the clause in the new tariff act allowing a 5 per cent. rebate on goods imported in American ships. British shippers grew red in the face denouncing that "outrage." And now there is a terrible hullabaloo over the seamen's bill. That bill is professedly intended to save sailors on foreign ships lying in American ports from the tyrannous exactions of the owners and masters of the vessels.

The seamen's bill may or may not be imperatively demanded to remedy grievous wrongs. But the vehemence with which it is assailed in England and elsewhere arouses the suspicion that somebody has been "hit." One London newspaper alleges that the aim of the measure "is to enable men to desert freely and so induce them to join the United States mercantile marine," although how they can join a marine which is almost non-existent is a puzzle. London shipowners fairly froth at the mouth. One of them is quoted as saying that, instead of encouraging desertions from British ships, the United States government should "do something to stop desertion, which is already far too prevalent at American ports," and he calls the bill dishonest and uses other uncomplimentary terms. Maritime nations have often resorted to extreme and not always just means of aiding their shipping and manning their vessels. This has been especially the case in Great Britain. A great many persons in England may find it convenient to forget the impression and similar laws under which British shippers arbitrarily and mercilessly seized the residents of other countries, including American citizens, and forced them to serve as sailors. That was a time when "might made right" on the seas. But this is a day of better things. The humblest sailor is entitled to fair play, though he does not always get it at the hands of some owners and captains. If fair play jeopardizes the supremacy of British maritime interests, then so much the worse for those interests. Fair play for "those who go down to the sea in ships" must prevail at all costs.

UNCLE WALT.

The Post Philosopher.

Oh, I'd hate to be a clerk, in the glad rags store and work, showing forty thousand samples to the wives, while those women paw around saying that they never found any goods so fierce and flimsy in their lives! There are women, scores, indeed, who can buy the things they need without driving all the salesmen to despair, without causing frantic gents, when they're spending seven cents, to attempt to blow their brains out with a chair. But the limp and languid dame who adopts the shopping game as a sort of life profession, who bobbles the salesmen weary-eyed, till they think of suicide, and would like to cut their heads off with a spade. She examines miles of silk and remarks that Mr. Blisk, in the store around the corner sells the same at a rope's end a yard, and she kicks around so hard that the salesman raises gooseflesh on his frame. And she says those eyes of hers never saw such doggone furs, and the satins and the muslins make her sad; everything is on the blink—and the soulless salesmen think if she'd die of apoplexy they'd be glad. I would hate to have to wait on that sort of lady while she pawed among the garments and the hose; when I heard her snarl and scoff I would knock her bonnet off or reach out with eager hand and pull her nose. WALT MASON.

Enoch, the Egg King.

[November Lippincott's.] A tall, gaunt young man entered the office of the Globe Museum and Family Theater and asked for the manager.

"What can I do for you?" inquired a pudgy man in a checked suit.

"I want an engagement as a freak in the circus hall."

"Who are you?"

"I am Enoch, the Egg King."

"What is your specialty?"

"I eat three dozen hen eggs, two dozen duck eggs, and one dozen goose eggs at a single sitting."

"I suppose you know our policy."

"What's that?"

"We give four shows every day."

"I understand that."

"And do you think you can do it?"

"I know I can."

"On Saturdays we often give as many as six shows."

"All right."

"And on some holidays we give a performance every hour."

The young man hesitated.

"In that case," he finally said, "I must have one thing understood before I sign a contract."

"What's that?" asked the manager.

"No matter how rushing business is at the museum," the Egg King replied, "you gotta gimme time to enough to eat my regular meals at the hotel."

His Choice.

[The Argonaut.] Archibald Forbes was fond of recounting his experience in Laven, Fifeshire, during a lecture tour. When Forbes entered the hall there was not a single soul present. After a bit, however, a man strolled in and calmly proceeded to choose a seat. It seems he was a commercial traveler, putting up at the place for the night, who had found time hanging heavily on his hands. Nobody else coming, Forbes said to the "audience": "Will you have the lecture, or will you have a drink?" "A drink," said the traveler.

AN INCOME TAX TRAGEDY.

Or a Glimpse Into the Future.

BY GORDON RAY YOUNG.

Office of the Secretary of State.

The Great Uncommoner happens to be in his office. (The lecture season is closed.)

The Great Uncommoner (soliloquizing):

Now hark my eloquence with rare niceties Made into Chastiqua's resin and sealed.

A multitude of lady dollars for The close-watched harem of my pocketbook.

[He smiles reminiscently and presses a button.]

"This treat to be so great as I! And 'tis An honor that few men have ever known."

[Secretary enters. Very obsequious.]

Sec.: Swift as though with the heels of Mercury

I rush to do the bidding you would make.

T. G. U.: Bring me a glass of grape, well chilled and blue

As Indigo—pure as the eloquence

That flows betwixt my lips when'er I mount

The platform where I make a noble speech.

And mind you, sir, that not one naughty germ

Who stirs up fermentation in our brews

Shall lurk within the bottle you pour from.

Sec.: Aye, every drop shall be beneath the

Of our most powerful microscope

And thus make sure no alcohol is found

In any juice the honored, hollow straws

May bear, sucked up to your illustrious lips.

[Secretary goes out.]

T. G. U.: Thus doth stern discipline maintain a guard

About my everlasting soul that keeps it free

From free from alcoholic taint and sure To 'escape the tortures of the mob that's damed.

[Secretary comes back.]

What, hot

Sec.: A visitor. He's most uncouth.

T. G. U.: Why show him in?

Sec.: He doth persist.

T. G. U.: Why so?

Sec.: In law's bright name he speaks and so demands

That he be given audience with you.

T. G. U.: Then let him in—but take your stand behind

The screen and at the first move which he speaks

An act of violence break forth and seize

The rascal by the neck and boot him out.

[Secretary hides behind screen. Collector of Revenue comes in.]

Collector of Revenue: Look here, old top, you're holdin' out on us.

This here report you've made don't total up

With other figures that we've got to show.

Come through. Of course it was an error—sure!

But money paid for lectures must be taxed.

T. G. U.: Ah, ruffian, and would you rob poor me

Of my hard-earned and much-needed gold?

Poor me, who is the pillar of the State—

The compass of the nation's destiny.

The dove of peace in all the world's mad wars!

Must I, for doing good, be made to pay

The same as—

C. of R.: Ah, tell it to Sweeney 'cause I'm in a dreadful haste. Come on—come through.

T. G. U.: Who made this country safe by logic proof

That gold was truly the wise standard of this land?

"Twice me, I showed the folly of The silver standard as its champion.

I made myself a clown to show how wise Were those who stood in opposition's ranks;

And thereby won a victory for gold.

Must I then be assessed for that great work?

C. of R.: Sure, Mike

T. G. U.: My name's not Mike

C. of R.: Give me the coin

And then I'll beat it

T. G. U.: And mark you, who but myself

Has won from brilliant thoughts a plan to save

The world from war? Myself! And see

Of my design's rare excellence in this:

No nation has obeyed my wish and wars Still rage. Is that not ample proof that my Great scheme would save them from destruction's blow?

C. of R.: Oh, sure Now I have listened long enough

To all that flow of gab to make you owe Me more than twice the amount that's due. Come through.

T. G. U.: An insult you have hurled into my teeth!

"My flow of gab!" My eloquence is scorned By this most uncouth rascal here. Gab!

So calls he dainty words that trip from my Resplendent silver tongue! Away with him—Out, Secretary—Out this underling!

And toss him from the sacred precincts of My presence here!

[Secretary emerges slowly and stands contemplating G. of R. without showing any overwhelming desire to obey instructions.]

Rush quickly out and throw

This varlet hence. And now because I am So much opposed to violence in all Its hideous forms and uphold peace away, I shall withdraw and not allow my sight To sanction such rude antics and vile acts. But throw him out—when that is done I shall Return—So, now, good-by—good-by! I go!

[The Great Uncommoner rushes out.]

THE BEEF SHORTAGE.

The following statistics are presented by The Wall Street Journal to show how the beef supply declined in recent years:

Exclusive of

Jan. 1 All Cattle Dairy Cows Population

1918 ... 56,527,000 35,000,000 94,496,000

1912 ... 57,599,000 37,200,000 95,410,000

1911 ... 60,509,000 39,670,000 93,793,000

1907 ... 72,534,000 51,566,000 87,321,000

Steers form the main supply of beef, and these of all ages never constitute more than one-third of the second column. Reducing the supply of cattle to a per capita basis, the proportion is:

Per Capita Exclusive of Dairy Cows

1913 ... 0.586 0.574

1912 ... 0.607 0.595

1911 ... 0.641 0.623

1907 ... 0.831 0.594

Alliterative Tongue Twist.

[Sketch.] A novel competition was held at a very bohemian West End club recently. A sweepstake, the winner of which received $25, was got up by its members for the best alliterative gem that would tie the knots in the tongue of the most careful speaker. The following are some of the best of the "tongue twisters" sent in:

A glowing gleam growing green.

The bleak breeze blighted the bright blossom.

Flesh of freshly fried flying fish.

Strict strong Stephen Stringer snared slyly six sickly sixty snakes.

The prize was won by the sender-in of the following:

Give Grimes Jim's great gilt gig whip.

Football Is Very Popular.

Tickets Are All Gobbled Up Way Ahead.

Blacklist Is Now Made Up of Ineligibles.

Army-Navy Game to Be Held at Polo Grounds.

(By A. P. Night Wire to The Times.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Any finger-doubt of the popularity of intercollegiate football, even under the most adverse conditions, is removed by the fact that applications pouring in to the ticket office for the big game of the season, the Yale-Princeton game, are being received at the rate of several hundred a day. The demand for seats surpasses previous records, and the various elements are at their wits' end to devise some method of increasing the seating capacity of the Polo Grounds, which is the venue of the game.

The demand for seats is so great that the ticket office has been forced to make a blacklist of ineligible players. The list includes several players from the various colleges who are not eligible to play in the game. The ticket office has also been forced to make a blacklist of ineligible players. The list includes several players from the various colleges who are not eligible to play in the game.

William Hodge has arranged a classy card of amateur bouts for the monthly boxing entertainment which will be staged at Jack Doyle's gymnasium in Vernon tonight.

VARDON AND RAY STILL WINNING.

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 29.—Vardon and Ray, the English golfers, found good results in the Portland Golf and Country Club tournament today. In the thirty-six-hole, four-handed match played, Vardon and Ray defeated their opponents to two up in the thirty-six holes.

PUMPELLY IS OUT OF GAME.

(A. P. Night Wire to The Times.)

NEW HAVEN (Conn.) Oct. 29.—There was gloom in the Yale football camp today when Hal Pumpelly, star dropkicker, twisted his injured ankle in a scrimmage and was unable to play the infirmity. It is feared the injury may keep him out of the big game.

There were several shifts today in the varsity line-up.

Tigers Disappoint.

quite raw when a quarter-back and a full-back run amuck in signal practice.

POSTER LOOKS BETTER.

Old Foster at the other half appears to be following his interference in better shape and if he does this in the game can lay claim to being an "object to goodness" half-back, otherwise not.

In comparing the two teams I would say that Whittier has a team that can play finished football; there are no fumbles, plays are not muffed up and the men in the line charge like wild beasts. On the other hand Oxy has a team of heavy green men, in all but a few cases. This weight, if used properly, can be made to crush Whittier, but unless the Tigers speed up they are going to be left as they were two years ago, when the light Pomona team walloped them, 42 to 6.

With a light line and light backs as well, here Whittier has heavy backs and the light line. Therefore it will be up to the Oxy line. First to open holes for the backs—which they cannot do unless they move at high speed—and second, to smash up the attack of the Whittier backs on the first defense. It is to get by this first defense that the Quakers will strive, as the heavy backs can outrun the lighter Oxy backs and long gains will result once they get by the Tiger rush line.

So it comes down to a question of weight and strength, plus against finish and speed and stamina against spirit.

Preps Close Flurry.

The L. A. High-Poly game is creating a deal of interest as many are wondering if it can be that the famous Blue and White of the Los Angeles High School has really come back. But it is not that the Poly team is not as strong as the one of last year, so there need be no fear of any walk-over, although the Poly boys seem to have the fighting spirit on the L. A. man from past performances, especially that of the Manual Arts game, when they held the Heavy Purple team to a 6 to 0 score.

Elliot to Referee.

Harry Elliott will referee the L.A.C.-U.S.C. game Saturday. Elliott is an old English player of international reputation and should put up a splendid brand of refereeing. His first chance here was at a game at the University of California, where Princeton defeated the Bruins. Elliott was the referee for the Michigan game in the most pretentious of the series.

While Coach Higgins Is in the stronghold of the enemy in the North gathering information as to the strategy and weak points of the two big varsity teams, his fighting youngsters are getting into fine condition.

NO MORE FOOTBALL.

BRIDGEPORT (Conn.) Oct. 29.—(By A. P. Night Wire.) At a mass meeting of the students of the Bridgeport High School today it was voted to discontinue football. A number of players recently had been dismissed from playing on account of marks in their studies.

BIG BALL GAME SCHEDULED BY ATHLETIC CLUB.

Carl Y. Booth's Mighty Aggression of Heavyweights Will Be Battle With Heine Plummer's Lean Boys at Washington Park next Saturday.

Furious practice is going on for the baseball game between the fats and the leans at Washington Park next Saturday.

It has been decided to make the game an annual affair. A pennant has been provided to be fought for. The park will be opened only to club members.

ILLEGAL SHOOTERS AGAIN RAMPANT.

Road hunters are again wreaking havoc on the duck preserve, after a week of comparative inaction following the visit of a posse of game wardens to the scene of operations.

Yesterday morning firing commenced on and around the Greenwing, Christopher and other club grounds in the vicinity of Westminster, at least twenty minutes before sunrise, according to statements of members present for the day's "shoot."

Frightened away from their food or flying high to seaward and returning, the fowl were subjected to unusually long range bombardments by the club members, who were compelled to accept the adverse conditions to lose the opportunity entirely.

Such conditions result in the wounding and loss of a higher percentage of birds than under the old state system of dawn to dark hunting, under which the duck flew low near the day limits.

PORTLAND WON PENNANT FROM LOWLY TAILENDERS.

Oaks Were Able to Take but Eleven Games from the Champions—Los Angeles Only Club to Win Majority of Games from Portland—Bogers With Punch May Revive Middleweight Division.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS

THE failed Oakland club is entitled to share in the pennant-winning honors of 1919.

Minor's misdeeds were about as big as the Beavers themselves.

The services of the Oaks in behalf of Portland, while purely a selfish one, were effective nevertheless.

Oakland took but eleven games from the Beavers, the latter leading the pennant-winning twenty-two to the two clubs.

Portland was able to take but eleven games from the Oaks in behalf of Portland, while purely a selfish one, were effective nevertheless.

Will Boost Your Shooting Average
TRY the Speed Shells this season; they get the lead to your bird quicker than any other shells you ever used. You take a shorter lead—angles bother you less—you get more birds.

The speed of these shells is due to the steel lining—the way it compresses the smokeless powder and keeps all the punch of the explosion right behind the shot, where it belongs.

Exclusively a Remington-UMC idea—and it is right.

Get Remington-UMC Steel Lined Speed Shells of the best quality in your store. See that the Red Ball mark is on every box of shells and metalize your bag.

HERE'S what he says:

"I HAVE driven my car 25,561 miles, the engine has never been taken down or overhauled and I can see no necessity for doing so at the present time, as it is running in the same manner as it did the first three months I had it. The set of spark plugs I put in a year ago have never been changed and only two of them have ever been out and this was done only out of curiosity."

THOUSANDS GO
TO BUY FOOD.Municipal Market Attracts
Clever Housewives.Pacific Electric Officers
Avoiding Arrest.Pupils Resist Interference of Their Teachers.

PASADENA, Oct. 29.—Despite the early hour of 6 o'clock, there was a large crowd on hand when the Pasadena municipal market opened on Holly street between Fair Oaks and Raymond avenues yesterday morning. Purchasers came thick and fast with their market baskets on their heads, and it is estimated that more than 4000 persons visited the market in the course of the forenoon.

Physically, the market is nothing more than a vacant lot divided off into stalls, and with an arch on one side by way of entrance, over which is a sign bearing the name of the new institution. There are twenty-three stalls and they were filled yesterday. The home producers soon sold out their goods.

While the market is called a municipal market, it is really to the Shakespear Club that the credit of its installation belongs. The members of the Shakespear Club, who are the city's home producers, worked all summer on the plans for the market, and when they appeared before the City Commission a short time ago they were told that the city had no money to help them financially, but that they were welcome to the commission's good will.

The Civic Committee, headed by the chairman, Mrs. F. A. Marston, and many other members of the club, were on the ground yesterday morning to see that their pet project should start out all right, and most of them purchased vegetables to take home.

The produce on sale was not limited to green goods. There were bottled flowers, and butter, and eggs, and in fact practically everything to be found at a city market, including live turkeys.

COMPANY GETS BUSY.
The officers of the Pacific Electric Railway Company will not be arrested next Saturday because the street work on South Raymond avenue, the contract for which expires on that date, is uncompleted. T. D. Allen, the commissioner, who last Monday moved that an extension of time "be not allowed," and to whom the City Attorney handed an opinion that the company might be penalized in a large sum and the officers imprisoned if the work is not done, last night said that Saturday will probably be of no special significance, if the company keeps on working.

There have been several conferences on the subject and the railway company, which has had trouble in procuring rock, expects to complete the work as soon as possible. It is not probable that the work will be completed by Saturday, in fact, that is regarded by the commissioners as impossible.

All we want is that the railway company keep on with the work," said Allen last night.

WHO GETS THE CREAM.
Everything is not harmonious at the Pasadena High School, that is, while the student body when the term opened this fall claimed the cafeteria as its own business venture, there are now murmurs of complaint that in reality the teachers are running it. Furthermore, it is asserted by some of the students that for the last five days there has been no cream in the bottles of milk which they buy for 5 cents each, and with the milk comes a suspicious inch from the cork. The teachers eat in a separate compartment of the cafeteria and the pupils are unable to peer into their cream pitchers, but some declare that their cream all finds its way on the other side of the partition.

The High School does not help the situation any, since she is still so wild that only one boy of the dairy class has succeeded in milking her and it is always problematical how much milk gets into the pail, anyway.

Other complaints also are made by the pupils. They declare that they are charged 5 cents for soup, while in eastern schools it is sold for 1 cent, and that they only get one slice of bread for a penny, whereas at other high school cafeterias two slices can be bought for the price of one.

SIGNS ARE PUT UP.
The City Commission has overcome the general complaint of automobilists that the marks painted across the pavement are invisible, and that they cannot tell how near street intersections they may allow their automobiles to stand, by putting up metal signs on posts at all of the principal intersections in the business part of the city.

These posts are seven feet high. With their installation a new obstacle has presented itself. That is that horses may be tied to them and they can thus be pulled down by the reins of a horse. Chief of Police McIntyre declared yesterday that any one who hitches a horse to one of them will be prosecuted by the city.

CITY BRIEFS.
A new floor is being laid on the Devil's Gate bridge across the Arroyo Seco. The supports also are being strengthened.

Two football games will be played at the High School next Saturday. The first and second teams will play the San Diego and Venice High School teams, respectively.

A donation party and reception will be given at the William Scripps Home for Aged Persons in Altadena, November 1, to celebrate the first anniversary of the founding of the institution. There will be several addresses.

GARDENA NOTES.
GARDENA, Oct. 29.—Work is to be commenced within a few days on the new Pacific Electric depot at this place. The depot, which will be for passengers and for the handling of freight, will cost about $5000 and will be built on the site of the present old dairy depot on Vermont avenue, between Palm avenue and Spencer avenue. Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce a strip of land was purchased for $1500 and given to the railroad company to be used for the depot site. By the purchase of this ground there will be room for the moving of the tracks on Vermont avenue and the laying of the necessary switches for the handling of freight. The depot will be surrounded by a small park, and will be maintained by the railroad company.

A most important improvement will be the removal of the present Pacific Electric tracks from their place to Strawberry Park, from either side of the road to the center, so that a drive may be made on either side. This improvement will be made at a cost of about $25,000. The Gardena Bank and Trust Company has been the first National Bank of Gardena and the capital stock increased from $25,000 to $50,000. The officers of the bank are: President, C. B. Cason; vice-president, Thomas Biggart; cashier, I. S. Ball.

THE WATER FRONT.
SAN PEDRO, Oct. 29.—When Patrolman Meddler arrested Earl and C. E. Young at 11 o'clock last night he started the breaking up of an alleged gang of automobile thieves. All Young has been well with the Youngs had they not tried to boost the number of automobiles in use in California.

When Meddler passed a car standing at the rear entrance of the Admiral Nelson on Beacon street he noticed No. 146126 Cal. hanging at the back. This struck the officer as going some in the auto sales in Los Angeles, and he had noticed had been below the 120,000 mark.

When the Young brothers came to Meddler's car they were told that the car was stolen and that they were to be arrested. They then fled to the station. There Earl Young confessed that he and Arthur L. They had stolen two cars and changed the machines so that their own owners would not know them. The machine they stole from the Earl Young of town was No. 8186 and belonged to O. W. Seymore, who resides at the Stillwell Apartments.

Earl Young said that he made a number of trips to Point Loma with lady friends and the discovery of clothing belonging to girls of about 14 years of age in a vacant house was believed to point to other crimes. But the clothing proved to be the property of the children of the owner of an empty barn on Olive street between Fourth and Fifth streets, Los Angeles. The clothing was a number of parts of automobiles.

They and Frank McDonald, who are said to have helped change parts of the recent wage scale, was not arrested and it is possible that more arrests will follow. The Youngs lived at No. 255 South Bunker Hill street.

SOUTH PASADENA.
C. Mushet, president of the California Federation, and Mrs. Russell J. Waters, president of the Friday Morning Club, were present. Other guests included Miss Elizabeth Packard, president of the Highland Park Club, and Miss Meeker, and Miss Bernabie of the Shakespear Club of Pasadena.

A short talk was given by Mrs. Cal Hartwell, vice-president of the California Federation, who congratulated the Women's Improvement Association on their beautiful new home and said that California had more women's clubhouses than any State in the Union, and the Los Angeles district more than in any other part of the State. Miss Elizabeth Packard, president of the Highland Park Club, said that it was up to the women to make the city a better place, and that they could do this by leading clean lives, to be sanitary, to be better, than at the present time, apparently. Mrs. Waters took the floor and spoke on "What the Harbor Will Mean to the Club Women," and Mrs. Francis, chairman of the Educational Committee, spoke briefly on "Education."

Luncheon was served to 300 guests at the address, the new clubhouse. Music was furnished by Mrs. George Glover, and the programme was arranged by Mrs. Harrison Clifford and Mrs. John W. Shenk, Jr.

TELLS OF THE HARBOR TO SUBURBAN WOMEN.
SOUTH PASADENA, Oct. 29.—Harbor Commissioner Gordon talked to the Women's Improvement Association today on "Our Harbor: Its Plan, Its Cost, Its Future." On charts he pointed out the future that had been accomplished and what was intended for the future.

He stated that the real construction of the harbor was started forty years ago, and that so far $2,000,000 had been expended; that the breakwater is from thirty to fifty-two feet in depth, covering about one square mile, and later will be enlarged to cover from eight to ten square miles; that we now have thirty miles of wharfage, which is considerably larger than that of Hamburg, Boston, San Francisco or New Orleans, and that in time it would be one of the greatest harbors ever known, and that it is the first time in the history of the world that the city has appropriated as much money towards its construction as the government.

Preceding the address, the first regular luncheon of the club year was served, with Mrs. John W. Monahan, Mrs. W. A. Coherane, Mrs. William Pollard and Mrs. W. H. Kinsling as hosts. As this was the first time that the club served luncheon in its new clubhouse, a number of distinguished visitors were present.

In addition to Commissioner Gordon and his wife, the executive board of the District Federation of Women's Clubs was entertained. Mrs. W.

BULL MOOSER
FALLS A-SNARE.Money's Gone from Hospital;
Doctor Accused.Private Funds Short but
State Loses Nothing.Date for Bond Election to Be Set for December.

[BY DIRECT WRITING TO THE TIMES.]
SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. F. G. Wishard, secretary to the medical superintendent of the Southern California State Hospital at Patton, was placed under arrest this afternoon on a charge of embezzlement of funds in his custody for the care of private patients in the institution. It is stated by J. F. Neylan of the State Board of Control, who was here this afternoon, that Wishard's shortage will amount to fully $1000, though it is possible it may go higher than that. It is stated the State will lose nothing through his alleged peculations, being protected by a bonding company.

Wishard, who has been one of the leading lights of the Bull Moose in this county, also prominent in church, musical and tennis circles, formerly stood high. He was for five years a practicing dentist in Highland and secured the place at Patton through the influence of Dr. E. W. Burke of the board of managers and one of the leaders of the Bull Moose faithful here.

Wishard received a salary of $150 beside his house rent and living expenses from the State. He is said to have been heavily in debt. He is also alleged to have been dabbling in land speculation.

About ten days ago Auditor Avery came down from Sacramento to make the usual examination of the hospital accounts. He found things which he thought called for the presence of Neylan, who arrived Monday. Today Wishard was placed before District Attorney Goodell, but the State official flatly refused to swear to a complaint against Wishard. Rather than permit Goodell to attach to his office for failure to prosecute, Dist. Atty. Goodell secured a complaint from a deputy sheriff. Wishard was arraigned late this afternoon and will appear for examination tomorrow, being admitted to $1000 bail. It is said he is in custody of the State Superior Court and kept for probation.

Wishard's alleged peculations are said to cover a period of fifteen months, and the State official is said to have been in the act of detecting in spite of the accounting system installed by the present State administration, which was said to make such shortage impossible. His game is said to have been to extract cash from the funds carried for care of private patients, and to use the same with bogus vouchers.

Wishard absolutely refused to make a statement to the newspaper, but his wife, who is said to be in the hospital, would stay by him in his trouble. Wishard, his wife and daughter are all accomplished musicians and were prominent in the church and social circles.

DATE FOR BONDS.

The bond election for the voting of $1,750,000 for a modern highway system throughout the county will, all probability be held Tuesday, December 16, the same day as the election for a similar purpose in Riverside county.

When the report of the Highway Commission is finally filed with the Board of Supervisors next Monday the board will immediately issue the call for the election, as there will be no problems for the supervisors to thresh out, the having frequently conferred with the commissioners and agreed to every step taken. Thus complete harmony prevails.

The bond between this city and Redlands has been changed to eliminate two corners and two railroad crossings. The new plan being the same as before.

There are bright prospects that the bond issue will carry by a good vote. The bonding proposition was received by a narrow margin. But in this campaign many strong interests are being brought to bear, and the bonds will also receive support for another reason, that is, the system of bonded highways is a complete plan, and formerly, also the type is of a more permanent character.

JUDGE STIRRED UP.
Judge B. F. Bledsoe, who was the trial judge in the Bixby case in Los Angeles, out of which grew the charges against Attorney Stevens and his associates, has been stirred up by a letter recently received from the Los Angeles Bar Association that he will demand it.

Judge Bledsoe, who scored the attorneys in the trial for the alleged bribery, defends his attitude in the case and asserts that unless the attorneys themselves ask for an investigation of the charges by the Los Angeles Bar Association that he will demand it.

CHEAP PRINTING CONTRACT.

Resch Papers Make War and Santa Monica Respects the Result in Lower Rates.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 29.—The price of printing the public notices of the city has dropped like a plummet from 50 cents, in which there was a great profit, to 10 cents, which is about the cost of the first insertions.

Thereby hangs a tale of the falling of two beach newspapers, and the entrance of another newspaper in the field ready to take a whack at the printing next year.

The Daily Outlook has, for the last year, held the city printing contract at 50 cents per inch. The Ocean Park Journal, the office of which is half in Santa Monica and half in Venice, is always a contender for the printing of both cities. The papers are on separate sides of the political fence this year, and their quarrelling has been to the advantage of citizens, as, when the bids for the printing were opened last night, the gross income was to be 10 cents, and the Journal 10 and 15 cents per inch. Worst of all, the Outlook's bid was for the printing of the city's notices, and the Journal's bid was for the printing of the city's notices.

Office Building.

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 29.—With twenty-five men ready to start on a moment's notice for the scene of the forest fire in the San Bernardino Mountains, the Riverside Water Company and the Gage Canal Company are showing themselves to be alive to the danger to the watersheds which are the life of the valleys that lie to southward of the range.

If called upon to render assistance to the men that are on the firing line, auto truck loads of men and equipment will be started within an hour's notice.

Arrangements have been made by the Tri-County Reclamation Committee with the forest ranger headquarters at San Bernardino for fighting those available nearest the scene of action. The fact that Riverside has not yet been called upon for aid, indicates that the fire fighters have the situation well in hand.

President Cutler of the Riverside Water Company stated today that the watershed from which this city acquires its supply is not endangered by the present fire.

With the filing yesterday of the nominating petition of Councilman Bradford Morse for the office of Mayor, it is believed all the names that will now go

OAKLAND AFTER FREIGHTERS.

Los Angeles, However, Is Rival For Trade of the United Fruit Company.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
OAKLAND, Oct. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oakland will make a determined effort to secure the trade of thirty-five steam freighters to be operated by the United Fruit Company when the Panama Canal is opened. Special representatives of the company are to visit Oakland and make an inspection of harbor facilities.

Oakland has a rival in Los Angeles, which already has taken steps to find docking for the proposed line of freighters. The question was brought before the Oakland Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon by George Hatch, of Hunt, Hatch & Co., and director of the United Fruit Company.

At the internal revenue department, which has been located out of the collector's office, he will be assisted by a number of deputies, and it is expected that the collector will be able to keep the California "fruit" exchange, everyone must do their part and work for its upbuilding. A SOFT THING IN SACRAMENTO

Six Hours a Day If You're a State Employee.

Civil Service Board Can't Make It Any Longer.

Atty.-Gen. Webb's Opinion Says This Is the Law.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] State employees must have to work eight hours a day and the Civil Service Commission can't make 'em. Six hours is all the State political code requires.

This is the gist of an opinion sent by the Attorney-General to Charles Wesley Reed, president of the State Civil Service Board, in reply to a query whether he could enforce the following proposed rule:

"All employees in the various offices and departments of the State government subject to the civil service act are required to devote eight hours of labor each working day. Time off for noon is not included in the eight hours. The heads of the State offices and departments are required to fix a definite time for employees to report for morning and afternoon work, and no employee shall be permitted to leave his work for the day unless the work is completed without having served the State eight full hours."

The Attorney-General says: "I have carefully examined the civil service act and do not find the power to make or enforce the rule which you propose to be directly conferred by the provisions of the act, nor does it appear to be necessarily incidental to the performance of any power so expressly conferred."

"In short, I find nothing in the act that, under any reasonable construction, can be held to give to the State Civil Service Commission the power or the authority to prescribe the details of the hours of the day for the performance of the duties of the employees, or to make or enforce such rule, and it is my view that your commission possesses neither."

This conclusion is in accord with the provisions of section 1020 of the Political Code, as follows:

"Unless otherwise provided, by law, every officer must keep his office open for the transaction of business from 10 o'clock a.m. until 4 o'clock p.m. each day, except on holidays."

"It is generally understood that an officer or department may keep his office open for the transaction of business during a greater number of hours of each day than that prescribed in this section, but whether this shall be done has by the Legislature been left to the discretion of such officer or department."

Invitations to Nuptials of President's Daughter Are Being Addressed at the White House.

(By A. P. Night wire to the times.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Invitations for the White House wedding on November 25 were being addressed today. The invitations are engraved simply and read: "The President and Mrs. Wilson request the pleasure of the presence of— at the wedding of their daughter, Miss Jessie Woodrow, to Francis Brewster Sayre, on November 25, 1913, at half after four o'clock, at the White House."

The number of invitations has not been decided upon and detailed plans for the wedding are not yet ready for announcement.

Arizona Judge Imposes Prison Term of Five Days Upon Attorney for Contempt of Court.

(By A. P. Night wire to the times.)
DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Oct. 29.—For the second time in two weeks Allen R. English, an attorney, was sentenced today to a jail term for contempt of court by Judge A. C. Lockwood of Tombstone. In each instance the prison term was five days.

Last week English called a former client a liar in court. Judge Lockwood promptly had him locked up for five days. Today the judge sent him to a cell for appearing in a condition which the court pronounced unfit and contemptuous.

Answering an inquiry as to whether the syndicate contained any Dutch-Shell interests, Mr. Sloan said he understood not. Negotiations were pending with the Shell combine at one time, but too much delay was imposed on the General Petroleum for the examination of titles. Those who are handling the present syndicate were already largely interested in the company and were familiar with the properties.

This deal will place the California Petroleum business in the hands of three strong corporations. There will be the Standard Oil Company of California, with an investment of more than $7,000,000, thoroughly entrenched, with a complete marketing organization and plentifully supplied with working capital; there will be the new British holding corporation, controlling General Petroleum and Union Oil.

The third great interest in the field will be the Royal Dutch Oil Company and the Shell Trading and Transport Company, known as the Dutch-Shell combine and controlled by the Rothschilds. The present representative of this combine in the local field is the American Gasoline Company. It is, however, the marketing organization of its two rivals, and it is estimated that an investment of $15,000,000 will be required to build pipe lines and refineries so that it will be in a position to take the highest advantage of the ultimate market. The combine has already manifested that this is its purpose, possibly delayed by the negotiations to buy General Petroleum, which are now at an end.

Police Judge Holds Him Without Bail For Assault on a Newspaper Collector.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Convicted of a brutal assault on James I. Knox, a young millionaire social favorite, was ordered into custody by Police Judge Shortall this morning without bail until sentence can be passed tomorrow. Judge Shortall took occasion to tell the prisoner that he placed no credence in his testimony or that of his witnesses.

The assault was committed on October 21, in Shorb's office, to which Knox was gone by appointment to collect a bill.

He was allowed to cool his heels in an outer office, waiting for his money, until he resolved to seek admittance to Shorb's private office to get his money.

He knocked at the door of this office. Shorb then attacked him.

Invitations to Nuptials of President's Daughter Are Being Addressed at the White House.

(By A. P. Night wire to the times.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Invitations for the White House wedding on November 25 were being addressed today. The invitations are engraved simply and read: "The President and Mrs. Wilson request the pleasure of the presence of— at the wedding of their daughter, Miss Jessie Woodrow, to Francis Brewster Sayre, on November 25, 1913, at half after four o'clock, at the White House."

The number of invitations has not been decided upon and detailed plans for the wedding are not yet ready for announcement.

Arizona Judge Imposes Prison Term of Five Days Upon Attorney for Contempt of Court.

(By A. P. Night wire to the times.)
DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Oct. 29.—For the second time in two weeks Allen R. English, an attorney, was sentenced today to a jail term for contempt of court by Judge A. C. Lockwood of Tombstone. In each instance the prison term was five days.

Last week English called a former client a liar in court. Judge Lockwood promptly had him locked up for five days. Today the judge sent him to a cell for appearing in a condition which the court pronounced unfit and contemptuous.

Answering an inquiry as to whether the syndicate contained any Dutch-Shell interests, Mr. Sloan said he understood not. Negotiations were pending with the Shell combine at one time, but too much delay was imposed on the General Petroleum for the examination of titles. Those who are handling the present syndicate were already largely interested in the company and were familiar with the properties.

This deal will place the California Petroleum business in the hands of three strong corporations. There will be the Standard Oil Company of California, with an investment of more than $7,000,000, thoroughly entrenched, with a complete marketing organization and plentifully supplied with working capital; there will be the new British holding corporation, controlling General Petroleum and Union Oil.

The third great interest in the field will be the Royal Dutch Oil Company and the Shell Trading and Transport Company, known as the Dutch-Shell combine and controlled by the Rothschilds. The present representative of this combine in the local field is the American Gasoline Company. It is, however, the marketing organization of its two rivals, and it is estimated that an investment of $15,000,000 will be required to build pipe lines and refineries so that it will be in a position to take the highest advantage of the ultimate market. The combine has already manifested that this is its purpose, possibly delayed by the negotiations to buy General Petroleum, which are now at an end.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Property owners north of the Hill-street tunnel yesterday was an important point from the Council which may revise the present assessment.

"What is the price of admission?" asked three suburban districts of the Annexation Commission yesterday.

The "price" is as yet unsettled. The Board of Public Works yesterday firmly refused to approve the bond of a contractor who would handle the city's garbage.

The Harbor Commission increased the speed limit for ships in the inner and outer harbor, and reopened negotiations with the San Pedro Dock Company.

The Fire Chief yesterday recommended that 125 additional fire alarm boxes be installed in various outlying parts of the city.

A man who appeared as a witness in the divorce court, and testified that he had listened to a neighbor woman's conversations over a party line telephone, was given a severe arraignment by Judge Works yesterday.

TUNNEL TAX MAY BE REARRANGED.

NORTH-SIDE OWNERS PROCURE DELAY FROM COUNCIL.

Hill-street Bore Protestants Threaten to Sue City to Prevent Collection of Assessment They Consider Unjust—North Siders Against South Wins First Move.

Property owners in the assessment district north of the Hill-street tunnel yesterday brought about a delay by the City Council in approving the assessment and it will be two weeks before final action is taken and the property owners know whether they have to submit to the proportion of the tunnel cost levied against them by the city.

In the meantime the whole matter is referred to the Public Works Committee with a request that the committee endeavor to readjust the assessment as protested against by property owners north of the tunnel. Open threats were made by spokesmen for the property owners yesterday that if the present assessment is not changed, an appeal will be taken to the courts on the ground that it is unjust and unequal.

Property owners north of First street in the assessment zone fixed by the city protest that they must pay half of the assessment of $124,000 for tunnel cost while they are receiving only a slight benefit from the work. They contend that the property owners south of the tunnel, who must pay the remaining half, derive greater benefits, and therefore should be compelled to pay in proportion.

The matter brought out nearly 100 interested property owners from both ends of the district and the Council listened to arguments that consumed two hours. For the north end of the district, Albert W. Hill opened the argument, followed by F. A. Patten and S. A. Waldron. Waldron pointed to the fact that the assessment drew larger the farther away from the tunnel the property was, and charged that the average rate of 28 per cent of property valuation was tantamount to confiscation of property. He said the total valuation in the district is $1,172,000, of which $1,153,000 is south of the tunnel.

D. A. Hamburger of the Hamburger department store, represented property owners along Hill street, south of Sixth, when he said that the very people "who are most vehement in their demands for a tunnel were now the hardest kickers against the assessment. He pointed to the benefits that came to the property on the west side of the Third-street tunnel and said the same benefits would come to the property owners north of the Hill-street tunnel.

Former Judge Trask also spoke in favor of the present assessment, while John E. Hibel and Mrs. Matthew King protested against it.

Councilman Betkowski brought the whole matter to a conclusion by asserting that the assessment seems to be unfair and moving that the whole matter be referred to the Public Works Committee and to be taken up in two weeks by the Council again.

WHAT IS ADMISSION?

OUTSIDERS INQUIRE COST. South Pasadena, Alhambra and Belvedere yesterday made it plain to the annexation commission that while they may want to be annexed to Los Angeles they do not want to know in advance what is the price of admission, but they also want to have something to say about regulating that price. Having been told that the districts to be annexed must bring something of value to the city, three of the outlying districts came right before the commission with the good old American question: "What do we get out of it?" Among those who spoke are County Supervisor R. W. Friedman, Thomas H. Kirk, William H. Jennings, Charles W. Wilson and William Haslett. Most of these men wanted to know what accommodations Los Angeles has to offer in the way of outfall sewer connection and who was to pay for the main supply pipe leading from the aqueduct to the water mains. The commission asserted that the outfall sewer probably would serve South Pasadena's needs, but the water question went unanswered.

BOND DISAPPROVED.

CONTRACTOR STAYS AGAIN. The bond of C. D. Crouch for $50,000, insuring his performance of a contract with the city to take over the garbage system and erect a big incinerator at the edge of the city, was turned down by the Board of Public Works yesterday. Upon the recommendation of City Attorney Stephens, the board objected to the form of the bond and not to the names of the five men upon it. Crouch appeared Tuesday with the assertion that he wanted the contract signed and bond approved at the city hall yesterday. However, he changed his mind when the board failed to hasten with its inspection of the bond, and he said yesterday that he will attempt to get a surety bond.

SET HARBOR LIMIT.

BOARD INCREASES SPEED. Vessels with a draught under twenty feet may traverse the inner harbor at a speed of seven and one-half knots an hour, and those having a greater draught must travel at a speed not greater than six knots an hour, according to a final order made by the Harbor Commission yesterday. These extensions of speed were made at the request of the Pacific Navigation Company that the Yale and Harvard could not be handled in the inner harbor at a slower pace. The increase in speed, two knots all the way around, as the regulation in the outer harbor is for ten knots under the new order.

DOCK COMPANY BACK.

To secure an adjustment of the difficulties with the city, after the Harbor Commission had taken steps to forfeit its franchise, the San Pedro Dock Company yesterday submitted a proposition to the commission. The company states that the wharf, which has been out of repair for which was the bone of contention in the recent controversy, had been leased by the San Pedro Dock Company to the North Pacific Steamship Company, and that the San Pedro company was not aware that the lessee was not living up to its agreement. The new proposition is that the San Pedro Dock Company be given ninety days in which to repair the dock and that the city agree to award a thirty-year franchise at the expiration of the present franchise, which still has ten years to run. In exchange, the company offers, it will erect a new wharf according to specifications agreed upon.

TO REPAIR TUNNEL.

CITY ENGINEER SETS COST. City Engineer Hamilton yesterday submitted to the Board of Public Works an estimate of the cost of repairing the Third-street tunnel. The work will cost $124,000, comprising concrete base five inches thick, one inch binder of asphalt and three-foot gutters of granite block. The estimate was sent to the City Council with approval by the board.

FIRE-ALARM BOXES.

CHIEF SENDS IN BIG LIST. Fire Chief Eley yesterday sent a list of 125 places in the city where he recommends that fire-alarm boxes be installed. They are all in the territory north of Mission road and east of the Los Angeles river, including all of the newly-annexed territory. In other parts of the city Chief Eley recently recommended that 130 fire-alarm boxes be installed. The commission will meet this morning, when it is believed that the recommendation of the latest batch will be approved.

MANY JOBS OPEN.

CIVIL-SERVICE TESTS. The Civil Service Commission has called examinations for positions in the municipal service as follows: November 22—Collection of revenues, Harbor Commission, $100 per month; chief bookbinder, Public Library, $75 per month; steamroller engineer, street department, $120 per month; police department, $100 per month; telephone operator (male), police department, $85 per month; inspector, Housing Commission, $60 per month; supervisor boys' work, Play-ground Commission, $125 per month; sanitary inspector, health department, $80 per month.

November 23—Superintendent of construction, harbor bureau, $125 per month; laboratory caretaker, health department, $65 per month; superintendent labor bureau, Municipal Civil Service Commission, $125 per month; Assistant Building Inspector, building department, $125 per month; engineer, fire-alarm and police company, Mayor's department, $250 per month. Applications for these positions must be on file in the office of the commission, No. 204 Exchange building, at least five days previous to the date of examination.

CITY HALL NOTES.

The City Council was yesterday asked by petition to reward the twenty-five years of service for Uncle Silas Yena, the aged janitor of the City Hall. The petition bears the names of nearly every employee in the building.

To permit a re-routing of the Temple-street car, the property yesterday asked the Council for permission to lay a curved track at First and Spring streets. The matter was referred to the Public Utilities Committee.

Public Market Superintendent O'Brien yesterday asked the Council to obtain the necessary permits during the winter. On Marmon way, between Avenues 57 and 58; Mott and Fairmont streets, Sunset boulevard and Logan street, and Spruce street and Stephenson avenue. He recommends that the two markets at Central avenue and Jefferson street, and at Long Beach avenue and Thirtieth street, be consolidated.

The Annexation Commission will make a tour today of the territory subject to annexation and service from water of the aqueduct. The territory embraces Glendale, Burbank, Tropic and points in San Fernando Valley. Former Councilman Topham is preparing an ordinance which requires that automobiles must slow down while passing schoolhouses and that the citizen who have been interviewed have received the idea with favor.

Double-Track Order.

The Los Angeles Railway Company yesterday was ordered by the Board of Public Utilities to double-track its line on Vermont avenue, between Fifty-eighth street and the point where the lines enter the company's right of way south of Sixty-third street. The order is made upon the recommendation of the City Engineer in view of the fact that the city plans to improve Vermont avenue.

JOKE ON DORAN.

Deputy District Attorney Doran was excited for a few minutes yesterday. Doran went fishing and hunting Saturday. When he returned he found a letter, apparently from his Chief, assigning him to the country districts as a sort of punishment. Doran packed his personal effects and prepared to change offices. Then his friend, Percy Hammond, stopped at his home and Doran stormed. Then he was seen plotting revenge.

SECRET INDICTMENT.

The grand jury returned a secret indictment yesterday against a person who is out of the State. Deputy District Attorney Hannon says the purpose of the indictment is to assure extradition.

DRAMATIC RECITALS.

The first of a series of free musical and dramatic recitals by pupils of the Egan school will be given at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the school. Next month the school will move to its new building at Pico and Figueroa streets.

HEARD OVER THE PHONE.

COURT SCORES NEIGHBOR WHO LISTENS ON PARTY LINE.

Declares Society Not Safe With Such Men and Holds Eavesdropping as Parallel to Hiding in a Closet and Spying on Privacy of Home.

Evidence obtained by eavesdropping and from idle curiosity is not desirable in Judge Works' court. Because Joshua Hopper, a witness in the divorce suit of Beatrice A. Ryerson against her husband, Everett A. Ryerson, told in great detail yesterday of phone conversations of the husband, Judge Works said the court turned a broadside on him. Directing his remarks to Hopper, Judge Works said the statement he had made was one of the most remarkable he had ever listened to. The witness' act, the court said, was identical with the act of a man who had hidden himself in a closet in his neighbor's house and had spied on their privacy.

"Society is not safe from such men as you. You confess you had no object in doing these things, except mere curiosity and a desire to expose to benefit no one. I cannot permit such a thing to pass without the severest condemnation." The court's castigation took the wind out of the sails of Hopper, whose testimony was in behalf of the husband. Under the circumstances, the complaint charging his wife with misconduct, Hopper further said that when she "made a date" he followed her. It appears he had told the neighbors what he had heard over the phone. The case will be continued today.

TO FOUND MEMORIAL.

PART OF ESTATE TO BE USED. Rather than establish a trust fund for a small amount, the members of the family of the late Emily S. Barrows of Pasadena decided to use the money left by her for a memorial for the Los Angeles river. The memorial took the form of an organ, as members of the family were avowed organists. When the matter came before Judge Works yesterday in the shape of the final account of Administrator McDonald, the court was doubtful as to whether he had a right to make this provision. He took the case to the Supreme court. Mrs. Barrows died in 1910, leaving a small estate in the State. Her farm of considerable value in Illinois. Her daughters will have the income from the farm for their lifetime, and after their death it will go to the grandchildren. The memorial fund is the balance of about $300 left in this estate.

LAND RE-CONVEYED.

THREE BETHLEHEM PARCELS. Three parcels of land conveyed to the Bethlehem Institute for charitable purposes, and to be reconveyed according to the terms of the grant. The parcels were: 1. A tract of 10 acres, known as the Bethlehem Institute tract, which was donated by Miss Myra Hersey, becomes the property of the city for social, benevolent and educational purposes. 2. A tract of 10 acres, known as the Bethlehem Institute tract, which was donated by Miss Myra Hersey, becomes the property of the city for social, benevolent and educational purposes. 3. A tract of 10 acres, known as the Bethlehem Institute tract, which was donated by Miss Myra Hersey, becomes the property of the city for social, benevolent and educational purposes.

Under the terms of the grant to Bethlehem Institute, an annuity of 2 per cent on the basis of $15,000 was to be paid to the grantor, and the payment of this annuity will be assumed by the church. The property was used by Bethlehem for settlement purposes, but times changed and a foreign settlement sprang up so that there were no Christians to attend the church.

SALARY QUESTIONED.

CAHUENGA TOWNSHIP SUIT. A judicial inquiry as to why Justice H. D. Canne draws pay for holding court for Cahuenaga township when his principal residence is without the boundaries of that township. A suit filed in the suit of Horace H. Sheets, a taxpayer, against County Auditor Lewis and County Treasurer Hunt, to have them restrained from approving and paying Justice Canne's demand.

It is alleged that Canne's acts as justice are void and have been since December 7, 1909. Canne was elected justice in 1909, holding court at Western avenue and Santa Monica boulevard. While in office, a portion of the territory was annexed to Los Angeles, and it is alleged that the supervisors made no provision for a successor to Canne, who resides in Hollywood and is alleged to be a judge his salary an illegal expenditure. Presiding Judge McCormick issued a temporary restraining order yesterday and an order to show cause returnable before Judge Morrison on Monday.

ONLY A PICTURE.

SUIT OVER A THEATRICAL. A moving-picture theater at Sixty-ninth and Holmes streets, alleged to be doing a business of about $40 a week for eight performances, was the lure that induced Clara Grover and her husband, George Grover, to invest their savings, only to find, as they declare in a suit filed yesterday against F. A. DeVore and his wife, Emma, that the receipts were exaggerated. Mrs. Grover says she is a housewife and her husband a blacksmith. They took possession of the theater with visions of a comfortable living, but allege that the total receipts for eight performances were only $35 and that the personal property was not worth more than $200 instead of $350 which they contracted to pay. They said they were promised preliminary notes for the balance. They ask judgment for $1032.50 and interest on $350.

WITH JURY.

FATE OF MURDERER. The fate of Frank Klier will rest in the hands of the jury today for the killing of his wife and Harry Sharpless, his wife's lover. Though the story of the double shooting was told to the jury by the defendant himself, he is not being tried for killing his wife at the present time. Klier lately tried to make out a story of self-defense, telling of a struggle between him and Sharpless in which the gun was discharged and the two were injured.

The story did not ring as true as the one the man told when arrested at his home on Ward street, when he declared he could not stand the strain of seeing his wife in another's arms and that in a frenzy of passion he had shot both.

Deputy District Attorney Keyes in a strong argument to the jury declared the law cannot be violated by such men as the defendant, that he shot to kill under circumstances he had himself encouraged.

Courtroom benches expect a verdict of murder in the second degree.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

WINS SUIT. Judgment for $1600 was given yesterday by a jury which tried the $25,400 damage suit of L. C. Krueger against Warren Brown, who was charged with negligence in the matter of the shipping plant, Wilbur's court yesterday. Strom is superintendent of the concern, and the judgment is against both. Krueger, who was injured by the material, negligence was charged. The defense was that Krueger did not use ordinary care.

SUES PULLMAN.

Mrs. Matilda Simmons, who alleges in a suit against the Pullman Company that she was removed from a sleeping car and forced to occupy a railroad coach on the journey from Los Angeles to Memphis, last July, asks $2500 damages, segregated as follows: Loss of services, $125; sickness and expense, $150; mental pain and anguish, $1500.
